

FootGolf Qualification System

World Cup 2026

Acapulco, México

May 27 - June 7

Introduction:

The FootGolf World Cup 2026 Qualification System has been meticulously crafted to ensure global representation, foster competitiveness and motivate active participation in the sport. Designed with a balance of fairness and growth in mind, this system offers structured pathways for teams and individual players across all categories—Men, Women, Senior, and Senior Plus.

Developed through a collaborative and rigorous process, the qualification system was initially outlined by the FIFG World Cup Committee, further refined with valuable input from the FIFG Competition Committee, and finally revised and approved by the FIFG Board. This comprehensive review ensures that the system is robust, equitable, and aligned with the FIFG's long-term strategic vision.

Key objectives include aligning qualification opportunities with current participation levels, rewarding merit-based achievements and encouraging national FootGolf associations to expand their licensed player base. This approach not only enhances inclusivity but also supports the FIFG's mission for the global growth of FootGolf.

With over 750 players anticipated to compete, this qualification system ensures proportional representation across regions whilst promoting excellence through performance-based entry. The combination of guaranteed spots, rankings, and incentivized licensing strengthens engagement at both national and international levels, setting the stage for a thrilling and competitive FootGolf World Cup in 2026.

Objective

The proposed qualification system for the 2026 FootGolf World Cup ensures fair and proportional representation across all regions while promoting competitiveness and incentivizing player engagement through structured pathways.

Key Features of the Qualification System

1. Team Qualification

- The qualification spots for Men's, Senior, and Women's categories have been distributed across the five global regions, ensuring representation aligned with participation levels.
- The allocation reflects current levels of participation and competitiveness, balancing global representation with merit-based entry.

2. Individual Qualification

- Base Player Allocation: Each country is guaranteed a minimum number of players in the World Cup:
 - Men: 1 player
 - Men Senior: 1 player
 - Women: 1 player
- World Tour License Percentage (75%):
 - A significant portion of spots are allocated based on the percentage of licensed players within each country. This incentivizes countries to increase their licensed player base, fostering growth at the national level. (To prevent manipulation, it is necessary to have played at least one FIFG tournament).
- Top 100 World Ranking Percentage (25%):
 - Additional spots are determined by the proportion of players from each country ranked in the top 100 of the World Rankings. This motivates players to participate in international tournaments and perform at the highest level.
- Players participating in World Cup qualifications in their country must have a World Tour License.

3. World and Regional Rankings

- World Ranking: Allocates spots to the top-performing players globally, ensuring competitive balance.
- Regional Ranking: Ensures regional representation by awarding spots to the top players from each region.
- 4. Senior Plus and Women Senior Categories
 - Senior Plus players (52 spots) will qualify through World Rankings (2023 & 2024), regional allocations of 2025, and by WT Licenses of 2024.
 - Women Senior players will qualify through the Women's Absolute Category rankings, streamlining qualification.
- 5. Rounding Rule for Percentages
 - To simplify the allocation process, fractional spot calculations will be rounded to the nearest whole number, maintaining clarity and fairness.

Eligibility of Players Transitioning to Senior Category in 2026 (Individual Competition)

- Players who earn qualification in the Men's category through the 2025 FIFG rankings, but who will move into the Senior category in 2026, are required to compete in the Men's category.
- If a player qualifies via a national qualification process, the decision regarding the appropriate category (Men or Senior) is at the discretion of the member country. However, please note that the total number of allocated spots per country is fixed—no additional places will be granted for players transitioning between categories.

Implementation and Motivation

- This system emphasizes growth through active engagement in licensing, participation in the World Tour and regional tournaments.
- It balances guaranteed representation (base spots) with merit-based qualifications (rankings and licensing percentages).
- By linking qualification to licensed player numbers and rankings, the system creates a direct incentive for member countries to increase participation and competitiveness.

Justification for Board Approval

1. Equity and Representation:
 - The system ensures all regions are represented proportionally to their participation levels, fostering inclusivity and fairness.
2. Growth-Oriented:
 - Linking qualification spots to licensed players and rankings directly motivates countries and players to expand participation and improve performance.

3. Transparency:

- The rules are clear, measurable, and align with the FIFG's long-term objectives for global growth and competitive excellence.

4. Scalability:

- This framework can adapt to future changes in participation levels and competitive dynamics, ensuring sustainability.

Conclusion

The 2026 FootGolf World Cup Qualification System provides a robust, fair, and growth-oriented pathway for teams and individuals. It promotes global representation while incentivizing engagement and performance. We recommend that the FIFG Board approve the system for publication and immediate communication to member countries, enabling early preparations and alignment with the FIFG's strategic objectives.

- Region 1 (North America): 2 qualifiers
 - Mexico qualified (host country)
- Region 2 (South America): 3 qualifiers
- Region 3 (Europe): 14 qualifiers
- Region 4 (Asia): 3 qualifiers
- Region 5 (Africa): 1 qualifier

Total Teams and Players:

Team Composition:

Every country needs to present at least all starters at the beginning of the team World Cup.

- Men's Teams: 24 teams (22 players per team: 11 starters, 11 substitutes)
 - 3 Individual, 3 Foursome, 1 Fourball

- Senior Teams: 24 teams (12 players per team: 6 starters, 6 substitutes)
 - 2 individual, 2 Foursome
- Women's Teams: 16 teams (8 players per team: 4 starters, 4 substitutes)
 - 2 Individual, 1 Foursome

Replacement Method for Team Spots if a Qualified Country Withdraws

If a country that has already secured a place in the Team Competition decides not to attend the World Cup, the vacated spot will be reassigned following the procedure below:

1. Identify the country with the highest number of World Tour Licenses of the vacated category* that is not already qualified for the Team Competition.
2. Determine the region of that country.
The additional team spot is awarded to that region, not directly to the country.
3. Regional Allocation:
Once the region receives the additional team spot, the FIFG will assign it to the next country in that region that did not qualify through its official regional qualification system.

*by licence numbers on the 1.12.2025

Conclusion:

This qualification distribution and team structure ensure that the FootGolf World Cup will have global representation while maintaining competitive fairness. The total of 752 players across all categories will create an exciting and dynamic tournament, with balanced participation from all regions.

HOW TO QUALIFY?

1. Base player for Countries:

- a. Each country will take a base of players to represent their nation.
 - i. Men: 1 Player
 - ii. Men Senior: 1 Player
 - iii. Senior Plus: 0
 - iv. Women: 1 Player

2. World Tour License - Percentage *

75% of the spots remaining after applying base spots and qualified players through World and Regional Rankings, will be awarded by percentage of Licensed players until Oct 1, 2025. This will motivate Member Countries and players to increase the amount of licenses to get more spots. (To prevent manipulation, it is necessary to have played at least one FIFG tournament).

Spots are for Men, Men Senior and Women*

3. Top 100 Ranking Percentage*

25% of spots remaining will come from a percentage of the total number of players from a country in Top 100 of the World Rankings until Nov. 24, 2025. For example: if Norway has 5 players in the top 100, they will be given 5% of spots. Each World Ranking per category will be considered for the calculation. This will motivate players to play the World Tour to get spots for their country.

Spots are for Men, Men Senior and Women*

Furthermore, this may allow us to give few direct qualification spots in the World Ranking and at the same time motivate players to participate in international tournaments.

4. World and Regional Ranking spots

- a. World Ranking (until Nov. 24)
- b. Regional Ranking (until Nov. 24)

	MEN	SENIOR	SENIOR PLUS	WOMEN*
Base Spots	1	1	0	1

Regional Ranking	Top 3	Top 3	Top 3	Top 3
World Tour Licence %	Yes	Yes	No	Yes
Top 100 Percentage	Yes	Yes	No	Yes

Clarification: Women Senior will be able to qualify through the Women Category. 2025 World and Regional Rankings will have Women Absolute Category.*

Drop Down: If a player qualified in 2023-2024 through World Ranking, gets a spot in 2025 FIFG rankings, the next player in that ranking will qualify. If the same player qualified through WR and his regional ranking the next player of that regional ranking qualifies.

Senior Plus World Cup Spots

52 spots:

- 2023 & 2024 World Ranking - 4 spots
- 2024 WT License spots per Country - 36 spots (chart below)
- 2025 - Top 3 of Regional Rankings - 12 spots

Drop Down: If a player qualified in 2023-2024 through World Ranking, gets a spot in their regional ranking 2025, the next player in that ranking will qualify.

If the results of a percentage give a fraction of a number we need to round up or down to a whole number.

Example: If spots for World Tour License gives 2.3 spots, it would be 2 spots, if result is 2.7 it is 3 spots.

2023 & 2024 World Ranking Spots:

According to the 2023 & 2024 Guidelines, these are the spots that were announced:

	2023	2024
Men	3	3
Men Senior	3	3
Senior Plus	3	3
Women	3	3

2023/2024: Only players that finished within the top 3 are eligible for qualification. The Spots awarded will not drop down outside these positions.

2023 World Cup Champions

The Orlando 2023 WC Champions are qualified to the 2026 World Cup to defend their title.

All players that are qualified to the World Cup, even through FIFG World or Regional rankings, need to fulfill their member country's World Cup requirements.

Players that can play in a different category in WC than their World Tour choice, are those transitioning from men to senior or senior to senior plus in 2025/2026.

Reassignment of Unused Spots

In addition to the standard qualification spots, the following situations may create additional available spots for the World Cup:

- Spots allocated to New Member Countries that are not used
- FIFG Ranking spots that are not used
- Superstar spots that are not used
- Spots that any Member Country voluntarily resigns

All unused spots will be reassigned by World Tour Licenses, by category (Men, Senior, Women, or Senior Plus)*.

Reassignment Procedure

1. The unused spot will be assigned to the country with the highest number of World Tour Licenses in that specific category.
2. If that country cannot or chooses not to use the spot, the offer will move to the next country in descending order of World Tour Licenses for that category.
3. This process continues until the spot is reassigned.

This includes circumstances such as changes in infrastructure setup, capacity limitations, unforeseen fluctuations in licensed player numbers, or evolving demands related to AIMS onboarding or compliance.

Any proposed adjustments will first undergo evaluation and agreement by the FIFG World Cup Committee and the FIFG Competition Committee, followed by final approval from the FIFG Board.
